D. D. Kirk has started a hat and coat renovating shop near the iron bridge.

The bell is swinging in the belfrey of the Union School. Now for the clock.

The exact distance between the Normal and University is six and nine hundredths miles.

Some boys are getting in a hurry and are "going swimming." Take care boys, or you will want a doctor.

Rev. Mr. Holt, former pastor of the 2d. Baptist church of this city, will be in this city over sunday the 30th. inst.

An effort is being made to retain the shops of the D. H. & S. W. R. R. in this city. It will probably be successful.

If you don't believe ads. and everything else in a local paper is read, just let an error creep in and how soon it is noticed and criticised.

Report says that a young man in Augusta offers a reward for his hat, gloves, etc., last week on a visit of mercy, one pleasant Sunday evening.

F. S. Finley, passed by yestereay morning with three full blood American Merino sheep, bought at the sheep shearing festival held near Paw Paw last week.

An effort is being made at the depot to raise funds for the purpose of sprinkling the streets. It is a good enterprise. The depot merchants do not intend to be behind the times.

Remember the Good Templars' Social to-night, a good place for young people, a good rendezvous for temperance workers. Good speaking, music etc. Ice cream. By order of Com.

The citizens of Ypsilanti will be sorry to hear that the probablities are that we shall loose Prof. Estabrook as principal of the Normal School. He has received a call to Olivet. The final arrangements are to be made to-day.

The Board of health organized Wednesday evening. Next Monday the "smelling" committee accompanied by Marshal Smith and Jake Martin will go the rounds. Those who have charge of alleys and other dark places had better clean them up and be ready.

Don't forget that the Loan Exhibition closes next Wednesday evening. Those who have attended pronounce themselves as pleasantly surprised at the number of rare curiosities. Do not fail to attend, The curiosity shop is attracting a good deal of attention. Refreshments are sreved up stairs.

Henry Wentworth officially notifies the public that all who desire to attend the National Republican Convention, at Chicago June 2d, will be permitted to purchase excursion tickets at the rate of two cents per mile each way, for all trains May 31, June 1st and 2d, limited to return until the 5th inclusive.

And still Ypsilanti is growing. We have a new bakery. It is in the Jenness Block and was opened Wednesday by Mr. Burkheiser, from Detroit. He has put in a new oven, and will carry on a general bakery business. He makes a specialty of fancy baking and has a very tasty case of fancy flowers for parties. Ice cream rooms etc.

The small-pox does not seem to be satisfied without at least one victim. The friends of Minnie Hagarty were in hopes that she would recover without serious illness, as her brother and sister had done, but she died Wednesday night after lingering for several days. Her remains were buried Thursday night. She was a favorite with her teachers and playmates.

The Editor in Chief was in Detroit last week, publication day, making a trade with Cornwell and Price for two splendid Campbell Presses; one, 32 x 48 newspaper and job press and one, 20 x 25 book and job press. The former will be set up next week and the latter will be here in about two weeks. They are bran new presses direct from the manufactories, the best made in the country.

An arrangement has been entered into between the Red Ribon Club and the Churches by which a temperance meeting is to be held in one of the churches every alternate week. The meetings in the opera house are to be discontinued. The first of these meetings will be addressed by Rev. Dr. Pierson, of Detroit, at the Presbyterian church to-morrow evening. There will be no services at the Methodist church.

We are not very often charmed with the melody of a hand organ, but seeing a couple of men with wooden legs, dressed neatly in army uniform, carrying one on Congress street Tuesday, we were led to interogate them. They were soldiers in the same regiment, one loosing his leg at the battle of the wilderness. and the other at Newburn, N. C., in '62. They have a small pension, but are trying to obtain money to start themselves in business. They appeared to be honest, and did not smell of whiskey.

Every curiosity seeker will visit the Loan Exhibition.

The children will all want to visit the Loan Exhibition. Give them a chance.

Don't forget that Dr, Kendall's book on the horse will be given to every paid up subscriber to March 1st, 1881, desiring it.

Dr. Batwell, statistician of the Fire Department made a report at the annual meeting that elicited commendation on every hand.

Prof. McLouth's lecture on "Moses and Geology," will be given at the Methodist church, a week from to-morrow evening. Next Tuesday evening the young people's society of the M, E. Church will hold a conference, subject, "Joy of Obedience."

There will be a big crowd in town Wednesday to see Barnum and his show. Some people at a distance won't go to bed Wednesday night for fear of being in too late to see the procession.

Give the children a chance to see the procession Wednesday. They won't learn anything in school while it is passing, and it will be barbarous cruelty to keep them in. A word to the wise is sufficient.

The band stand has been removed from opposite the P. O. to the depot, near Lewis' hotel. The band will play there every other week. Lewis says that he is going to have an ice cream and strawberry social; Each party to bring their own cream and berries and listen to the music.

Mr. E. Lalable will remain at home hereafter. It being a necessity in order to attend to his increasing business. He has a superb green house, conveniently located and in fact unsurpassed by any interior city of the State, in the rear of the post office and nearly fronting the building being erected for the COMMERCIAL office.

Walter Thornton has about broken up the idea that nothing can be bought on the east side, One of the best advertisements a man can have is a good stock of goods, and, a full line of what people want, then he is prepared to invite custom. If you live over the river give Thornton a call and see for yourself that the above is true.

The ninth annual fair, of the Eastern Michigan Agricultural and Mechanical Society is to be held in this city Sept. 21, 22, 23, and 24. We have commenced work on the premium list. All wishing their advertisements to appear in the premium list, can hand the copy to Frank Joslin, Sec. or to the COMMERCIAL office. Three thousand copies are to be circulated over the county and especially in the vicinity of Ypsilanti. Terms are $5.00 a page, $3.00 for half a page. It is a good investment.. Public spirited men, take hold of it.

Tuesday morning, Mr. John Gale of Superior, missed a flock of seventy-five sheep, from his field. He and Mr. S. P. Bray immediately commenced to look for them and followed their track with out difficulty to Mr. Dick Coe's farm, in York. On inquiring he found they had been left there by a man who had disappeared. This is the biggest piece of folly we have heard of in some time. The men may consider themselves lucky in escaping without the sheep. They had not been discovered at the latest report.

Merchants want to be on the look out for observing customers. A woman with a little girl made a circuit of most of the stores last Monday, and while looking around Mrs. Curtis millinery store observed a fancy pin which she proceeded to slip up her sleeve. The clerk, Miss Hattie Greene, requested her to return it which she did. She was bound not to be cheated out of a pin and in going to the door, she took another one out of a cushion, standing on the counter. Miss Green followed her into A. Williams store, demanded the pin and obtained it. She wants to try a place next time where the clerks are not so sharp.

Prof. Pease read a paper before the Young Peoples' Society of the Presbyterian church, Wednesday evening on Music as an art and, its use in devotional exercises. He gave an interesting history of the changes in music and gave valuable information to those wishing to be able to enjoy classical music. He believes in congregational singing if the congregation will only take pains to cultivate their voices in that direction, but they want to be led by a large chorus choir with a good quartette. He does not believe in the light flashy music now in vogue in the churches. Saying nothing of the words he thought the waltz music etc., in the Moody & Sankey works were detrimental to musical culture. He believes that the music should be adapted to the spirit of true devotion and tended to place the worshiper in a devotional frame of mind. Capt. Allen agreed with him, but said that the words were so good they had better stick to the old book.

How pleasant it is to leave the crowded store and heated office and by the way of recreation take trip down the Huron. So thought Alderman Robbins and Dr. Batwell, and Monday they started in a boat for Tuttle bridge taking fishing tackle etc. with them, some of which had been sent to the doctor from Europe. They caught a number of fish and everything went smoothly until they reached a sharp curve in the river this side of Jo. Stockdole's. The boat caught in a snag, and turned over, throwing both the Dr. and Mr. Robbins several feet into the water. Neither could swim, and for a while things looked serious, the water was about eight feet deep. Had they been thrown a few feet either way they might have been drowned, but as it was they caught hold of the limbs of sunken trees, etc., and worked their way ashore. They lost part of their fish and all their tackle, and the Dr. lost his coat, but they were not men to be scarred out by such slight obstacles. They got help, raised their boat from five feet of water and continued their ride, reaching Tuttle bridge in safety and brought back their boat and fish. They are ready for another trip.

LAKESIDE STOCK FARM AND NURSERIES,
SYRACUSE, N. Y., March 27, 1880.

J. W. BARKER, Sec'y, Syracuse, N. Y.

Dear Sir: We take pleasure in stating that we have used the Onondaga Salt more or less for the past twenty-five years, and found it generally beneficial in nursery and on farm, especially so for Standard and Dwarf Pear, Plum, Quince trees, grass, wheat and oats; also, as a covering to compost heaps, as it assists in decomposition and in killing obnoxious vegetation.

Yours, truly,
SMITH & POWELL.

Analyses of this salt have been made to determine its value as manure. It is so rusty that no one would dream of using it on his table, and if it were used to salt beef or fish, the results would be disastrous, yet its value for manure may be seen from the results of analyses:

Common Salt	87.74
Chloride of potassium	2.49
Sulphate of lime	1.68
Carbonates of lime and magnesia	75
Oxide of iron	87
Water	6.38
	99.91

Salt that contains 2⅓ per cent. of chloride of patassium in place of the same amount of chloride of sodium, is worth $1 00 a ton more for manure than pure salt,

Some folks seem to be born into the world to see trouble all their days. This seems to be the case with William Boyce, a farmer, living near the Model school house. He is the youngest of a family of five, and never was strong either mentally or physically. In his business transactions he has always received help from his brother, who has taken a kindly interest in his wellfare. His marriage relations have caused him a great deal of trouble, his wife having become insane, leaving the entire charge of things in his hands. To add to this his little son, Samuel, was wayward, had never had a mother's care, and was a torment to his father as well as to the school teachers who were unable to control him. Saturday (May 8th) Mr. Boyce came to the house, tired out by a hard day's work, marking corn ground, with his mind harrassed with his family cares. He found that the boy had been disobeying him, as he had done repeatedly in letting the horses out of the barn. The boy deserved punishment but Mr. Boyce took the wrong method of administering it. There is no doubt but what he kicked the boy, but had no idea what the effect would be. The boy was taken sick and died Monday morning. Mr. Boyce was taken before Justice Forsythe Wednesday, and his examination was set down for next Wednesday. The principal witness against him will be Miss Martha Hamilton, who was working there at the time. Whether guilty or not Mr. Boyce is deserving the mercy of the court.

NEW MEETING HOUSE.

Most people in the community know that for a few months past the Baptist church has been thinking seriously of building a new house of worship. They have now settled upon a plan which it is hoped will meet the approval of all. At a meeting of the church held last Tuesday evening, which was largely attended, the committee on building reported the following plan which was adopted without a dissenting voice:

1st. That a permanent committee of seven be appointed to have charge of the whole matter of raising funds until they are needed for the purpose for which subscribed and paid.

2d. That an effort be commenced at once to secure a building fund by the payment of money to this committee, and that pledges or subscriptions be solicited, payable monthly or quarterly, according to the convenience of subscribers.

3d. Funds thus raised are to be held sacred to the purpose to which subscribed and shall be used for no other purpose whatsoever.

4th. The committee shall report to the church, once in six months, or oftener, the exact state of the funds in their hands.

5th. Work on the building shall be commenced as soon as a sufficient sum shall be secured and the church shall vote so to do.

One pledge of $1,500 has been made on condition that the amount can be made $12,000 in three years. The committee hope to raise $4,000 this year, and the same amount the second year. That would leave just $2,500 to be raised the third year. If they succeed in this, building will probably be commenced in two years and nearly completed the third year.. The following committee were appointed by a vote of the church, to whom all subscriptions can be made: Wells Burt, J. S. Jeness, Herbert Sweet, C. Homer Cady, W. J. Canfield, Dan'l Putnam and the pastor, W. H. Scott. This is a very sensible plan. The church does not intend to go in debt, or build, until they get the money. The men appointed on the committee are well known as men of business integrity and can be trusted.

THE TWENTIETH ANNUAL CONVENTION OF MICHIGAN STATE SABBATH ASSOCIATION.

The above Convention will be held at Lansing in the First Presbyterian Church on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, June 8th., 9th. and 10th., commencing on Tuesday evening 7:30 P. M., with an address on "The Centennial of Sabbath Schools," and through Wednesday, and closing Thursday noon.

A programme has been prepared which promises to be one of the most interesting and profitable to Sunday-school workers; and all Sunday-schools are invited to send delegates.

In order that delegates may be provided with entertainment and reduced rates on railroads, let their names and addresses be sent naming railroads, which they travel, by the first of June to Rev. Wm. Dawe, State Secretary, West Bay City, who will send certificates to all who are duly elected.

Any Sunday-school workers in the state, who desire to attend the "Robert Raikes Centennial" in London, England, June 28th., to July 3d., may receive the advantages of delegates by application to the State Sacretary for delegate's card.

NORMAL ITEMS.

Mr. Edward Haug of '79, Principal of the school at Northville will deliver an oration on decoration day, at that place.

Now is the time that the energetic Normal senior hymns a sweet song to delighted School Boards.

The union meeting of the Zealots and Pleiades societies was a decided success. The attendance was large and the exercises unusually lively and interesting. Prof. George and other visitors were present.

Quite a number of students contemplate remaining in Ypsilanti during the summer vacation. They will pursue studies in the Sciences and Latin and Greek.

Mr. C. W. Rogers, the popular bookseller has presented a fine picture—of Beethoven to the Lyceum. A vote of thanks was extended to the donor.

The announcement of the appointments for commencement was made last Tuesday. The following gentlemen are the orators: C. T. Grawn, S. M. Crombie, George Broesamle, M. L. Smith, E. Haven, W. D. Clizbie. Essayists: Mary Essig, Anna Paton, Lizzie Pattison, Eva Walker, Lizzie Trump, Mintire Stafford.

The warm weather has reduced the number of visitors at the Normal during the past week.

BARNUM'S GREAT SHOW

A SUCCESSFUL OPENING IN BOSTON—IMMENSE CROWDS AND A FINE ENTETAINMENT.

Barnum has rarely, if ever, offered amusement patrons a better entertainment than that afforded by his latest "own and only" great show, which opened yesterday on the old Coliseum grounds, on the Back Bay, and he is reaping his reward, for the audiences thus far have been exceedingly large, and they bid fair to increase until, as in other cities this season, people will be turned away, as the show remains here but one week, and will then go west direct without exhibiting elsewhere in New England. An exceedingly varied and attractive program is offered every afternoon and evening under the improved water-proof tents that cover acres of ground.—Boston Herald.

The Clipper, the best of authority in all matters connected with the show business, says:

At no previous season of P. T. Barnum's "Own and Only Greatest Show on Earth" has the patronage been so lavish as that bestowed this season. On Friday night, when we were present, not only were every seat and all the available standing room occupied but extra chairs placed near the arena failed to accommodate the insurging crowds, and the management was compelled to close the street doors shortly after eight o'clock, and refuse admission to hundreds of persons who then blocked the sidewalks. The Zulus gave an exhibition of their skill in throwing assegais across the ring at a target. This at first created some little commotion among that portion of the audience in range, but was speedily allayed when they perceived the unerring certainty of aim with which these missiles were hurled. The Zulus also gave a characteristic war-dance.

Mme. Dockrill completely captivated those present by her grace and daring, and at the close of her principal act she was recalled at least half-a-dozen times ere the torrent of applause which she had excited was lulled. Later in the evening she rode four barebacked horses, after the manner of male equestrians. The enthusiasm she evoked was so intensified that it only found vent in cheers.

Charles White introduced a positive novelty in a couple of trained oxen, almost perfectly matched as regards color and size. They proved to be fully as intelligent, docile, and tractable as the best trained horses that we have witnessed. They knelt upon the fore-legs, mounted pedestals, placing one foot upon an elevated post, stood with all their feet upon small stands, ascended and descended a small flight of double stairs, fired a pistol, pulling a string with their teeth and played at see-saw. Signor Sebastian fully sustained his well earned reputation as a first class equestrian, doing a bareback act and a carrying act with little Louis. A horse and a stag called Landseer electrified the audience by leaping over the backs of other horses, and over obstacles placed at intervals around the ring. We cannot mention half of the attractive acts of the long program.

On the day of exhibition a ticket office will be opened at McKinstry's Cigar store, where those who wish to avoid the crowds at the Ticket Wagon may procure tickets and reserved seats at the usual slight advance.

OUR PROGRESS.—As stages and stage routes are quickly abandoned with the completion of railroads, so the huge drastic, cathartic pills, composed of crude and bulky medicines, are quickly abandoned with the introduction of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets, which are sugar coated, and little larger than mustard seeds, but composad of highly concentrated vegetable extracts and are warranted to cure all irregularities of stomach, liver and bowels. Sold by druggists.

THE DOCTOR TOLD ME—To take a blue pill, but I didn't for I had already been poisoned twice by mercury. The druggist told me to try Kidney-Wort and I did. It was just the thing for my biliousness and constipation, and now I am as well as ever.

A FOOL ONCE MORE,—"For ten years my wife was confined to her bed with such a complication of ailments that no doctor could tell what was the matter or cure her, and I used up a small fortune in humbug stuff. Six months ago I saw a U. S. flag with Hop Bitters on it, and I thought I would be a fool once more. I tried it, but my folly proved to be wisdom. Two bottles cured her, she is now as well and strong as any man's wife, and it cost me only two dollars. Such folly pays.—H. W., Detroit Mich.—Free Press.

MALARIA.—If you live in districts where you are subject to malaria, you should keep your liver and Kidneys in perfect order that they may throw it off. The great preventive is the Celebrated Kidney-Wort. Use it whenever you are constipated or bilious and you will never have a touch of the chills.

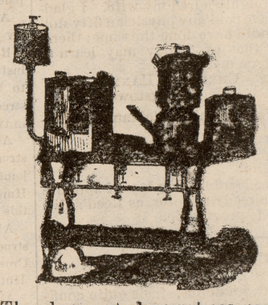
Housekeeper'S
FRIEND.



The above cut does not represent the "House that Jack Built," but shows what some active Yankee genious has brought about to ameliorate the hard lot of the overheated housewife or kitchen maid. It needs but little intelligence to see that it is a Gasoline Stove. To be appreciated it needs to be used but a very few days. For facility of operation, for comfort to the operator, and for light draft on the family exchequer, there is no other stove fit to be named the same day in comparison with it. A few were put into use last season, and created a perfect enthusiasm in the minds and heaats of the women who were fortunate enough to have husbands who were thus mindful of their comfort. We would refer to them here but those gentle ladies might be frightened to see their names in print. We have a full line of the stoves for sale on

IF the friends of the COMMERCIAL will be patient in the editorial line until we get fairly into our new building we will make amends by our level best endeavers to interest and please.

THE vote of the Ilinois Convention to instruct for Grant stood 386 to 307. The announcement of the result occasioned great applause, lasting several minutes, hundreds of delegates rising and cheering.

It looks now as if the "Sage of Augusta" is to be left about three or four miles this side of the Butler road. But if his friends in the district do their duty he will not be left in the race for Congress.

Prominent citizens in Detroit have tendered President Angell a reception prior to his departure for China. Among them we notice the names of S. M. Cutcheon and Wm. A. Moore. He accepts in a note thanking the parties. The day and time is yet to be named.

The M. E. National Conference held at Cincinnati, elected four bishops: Rev. Dr. Haven, he will be remembered as the popular Chancelor of our University for a number of years; Rev. Dr. Warren; Rev. Dr. Hurst and Rev. Dr. Foss. Harpers Weekly for May 29th. gives the likenesses and a brief historical account of all the bishops—thirteen in number.

The death of Rev. L. M. Hunt created a sensation at Galesburg. He was pastor of the Congregational church there a number of years, but last fall settled at South Haven. He was on a visit to his old parishioners. His health was poor, and it was supposed that in a fit of mental aberation or emotional insanity he had committed the terrible deed. Rev. J. S. Boyden, who was in town Wednesday morning stated to us that the best informed judges, most intimate with the facts, after a thorough investigation of the surroundings believe that his death was purely accidental. Messrs Hunt and Boyden married sisters. At the time Rev. Mr. Graves held his revival meetings here, Mr. Hunt spent some time in this city aiding the pastors and was highly esteemed for his work's sake. He stood high with the citizens of Galesburg.

CAPT. E. P. ALLEN'S SPEECH.

HE WAS TEMPORARY AND PERMANENT CHAIRMAN.

GENTLEMEN OF THE REPUBLICAN STATE CONVENTION.—For 26 years the political affairs of the great state of Michigan have been confided exclusively to the party which you to-day represent, [Applause] During all that time not a single state office has been in other than Republican hands. During all that time no measure affecting the interest of the people of this commonwealth has been adopted without the approval of the Republican party. [Applause.] It has taken the state of Michigan and raised it from one of low credit to one that is to be envied by all the commonwealths of this country. It has fostered a school system that to-day is equal to, if not superior to any on the continent; it has built churches and school houses and railroads, fostered every legitimate industry and developed the resources of this state as no state ever was developed before. [Applause,] It has done more than this. It has trained up a generation of men who believe in country before party or before state. [Applause.] We believe that this is a nation. [Applause.] This lesson has been taught them not by the pleasant ways that such lessons should come, but through blood and tears and the sacrifice of the noblest and best of this commonwealth, and today Michigan stands pre-eminent among her sister states prosperous in every particular. [Applause.] Gentlemen, this does not come from any mere chance. This is not because certain persons have held office or because favoritism has held sway: but because there have been underlying all the movements of the republican party of Michigan certain great principles upon which they have stood and to which they have been anchored. [Applause.] Because they have stood by principle they have for 26 years been triumphant in the political affairs of Michigan. [Great applause.] That is not all. Beyond the borders of our lakes the great Republican party born among free men has spread itself until the nation has acknowledged its sway; and for 20 years with scarce an interruption the great departments of the government have been under the control and direction of this same party [Applause,] which came into power because of the necessities of the occasion. When a great and solemn contract, a compact binding as truth itself, was ruthlessly broken in pieces, then it was that the men who believed in country above party broke their shackles, and swinging away from the dominant party that had governed the country heretofore, united themselves upon a platform whose key-stone and strong plank was patriotism, [applause.] said that thus far and no farther should go a power which undertakes to break down contracts that it may grow itself at the expense of the general good. [Applause.]

The Republican party moved on. It was assailed by epithet; it was assailed by all the enemies of the government. But steadily it adhered to fixed principles and through fire and blood, from Bull run to Appotomax, never in a single instance lowered its standard for any temporary gain whatever. [Great applause.] When the country ceased from its turmoil, and peace came with her white wings then it was that the great Republican party was equal to the occasion and with wisdom and care and kindness it took state after state that had seceded and replaced it in the family where it belonged and gave it its rights intact as they were before it left us.

That is not all. When the question came as to whether this country should by an act of folly make itself a byword and a hissing by repudiating its honest debts or by undertaking to call that money which was not money, then the Republican party again was tried as it never had been before, and the result was that through that trial it passed unscathed. Because it adhered to what was known to be right, therefore it conquered. [Great applause.]

Gentlemen, so long as the party which we represent is guided by principle, so long as it places measures before and above men, [applause] so long as it appeals to the better instincts of the American people, so long will it be the dominant party of this republic. [Great applause.] These principles which have been the guide of this great party for a quarter of a century have had to champion them not only the rank and file of the party but we have been led by patriots than whom the world never saw purer ones; who gave their days and their nights to the formulation and propagation of principles which indeed were the only ones upon which the government could come to a successful conclusion of its troubles. [Applause.] Towering above all—at least the equal of all—was one, who for 25 years has led the patriots of Michigan from victory to victory. That one we were proud to know as our own fellow citizen, who never for one moment under any possible circumstances lowered his principles, and to-day sleeps quietly and sweetly in Elmwood. [Great applause.] When the Republican party forgets the teachings of Zachariah Chandler [renewed and long continued applause] when they forget the man who with a native boldness given him for that express purpose dared to call treason by her right name in the midst of it's palaces; when the Republican party of Michigan forgets Zachariah Chandler they will have begun that career of decadence which will end in death. [Great applause.] And upon this, the first occasion that the party has been called in a representative capacity since his death, let us lay at his grave anew those fond tributes of affection and love which, without distinction of party, the men of Michigan came and placed upon his coffin when the chieftain fell—and to his ashes peace. [Great and long continued applause.]

Gentlemen of the convention:—We are called here to-day to select men who shall represent this great commonwealth at Chicago, to nominate the next President and Vice-President of the United States. [Great applause.] We are accustomed to say that to-day is the most important event in the history of our country. Every day is the most important day, and there never was a time when wisdom and prudence and care were more requisite than to-day for the success of the principles of our beloved party. [Applause.] May I not hope that this convention, representing as it does the strong, stalwart sentiment and principles of the state of Michigan, may be a convention wherein harmony shall prevail? [Applause.] and that it will select as representatives to Chicago men who will not represent themselves but their constituents, who have one object in view, and only one, and that is to name men who shall be fit standard bearers for the party that has embraced within its limits such men as Lincoln and Sumner and Seward. These are the questions that we ought to consider today; and may our counsels be those of peace; may we be glad that we have been here and may a successful issue crown our work at the close of this day. [Great applause.]

A lifetime of torture is often endured by the rheumatic. Their pangs may, however, be promptly relieved, and the disease eradicated with THOMAS' ECLECTRIC OIL, which is, moreover, a swift and thorough remedy for neuralgia, lame back, sores, bruises, frost-bite. corns, excoriated nipples, inflamed breasts, liver complaint, and all affections of the breathing organs. For further particulars see our advertisement in another column.

For the benefit of all sufferers, be good enough to bring the wonderful effect of ST. JACOBS OIL before the public. For twelve long years my wife suffered with Neuralgia in the head, and often had the most terrible pains. A few weeks ago I bought a bottle of that wonderful remedy —ST. JACOBS OIL—and am perfectly astonished at its marvelous effect; half a bottle thoroughly cured my wife. I gladly would have paid any physician fifty dollars if he could have done the same; therefore I wish that everybody may learn to value this true medicine.

From the Argus.

Prof. Olney will leave in the latter part of May for Saratoga, N. Y., where he will attend a missionary convention.

Some boys found an empty coffin with lid gone in the river on Sunday. It was a stiff sunken by a medical student, probably for the purpose of washing the flesh from the bones that a skeleton might be secured for future use.

From the Courier.

Myron H. Webb, of Saline; John Cook, of Chelsea; and Randall Schuyler, of Milan, have been drawn as United States jurors.

A little two-year old named Walter Lawrence was found floating in a cistern by his mother, last Saturday, at their residence, corner of Main and High streets. The mother drew him out, and by hard labor and a physician's skill, he was brought back to life. A narrow escape.

The Ypsilanti Sentinel insinuates that there is nothing left of the reform club of that city but a wreck. Perhaps it went to pieces as many have in other cities, by a peculiarly fatal disease known as two much clique. It is sure to be fatal if it strikes any organization of the kind, no matter how grand the object or how worthy the membership.

Open cisterns are but death traps for children. In less than one week we have noticed the death of three children in different sections of the state through falling into cisterns and drowning, while a narrow escape of a little one, spoken of elsewhere, brings the thing pretty near home, and yet parents will be criminally negligent about this danger.

Judge Harriman informs us that the new insane hospital at Pontiac is filled to overflowing with patients, and that to accommodate the new cases the private patients have to be discharged. The building was erected to accommodate 550 patients, and 650 are now being cared for there. It will not be many years before the state will have to erect another new asylum for the insane, so rapid is the increase.

The sand stone out of which the court house is in part constructed, is being badly demoralized by exposure to the elements. Especially is this so upon the north side, where some of the stones seem to be disolving almost. The finish is fast disappearing from the surface, and unless something checks the disintegration there may be danger to the structure. Why is this so?

Mr. R. Townsend, of Superior, has a Spanish merino ram, three years of age. that sheared the extraordinary fleece of 34½ pounds this year. His first fleece weighed 19¼ pounds, making a total of 85¾ pounds for the three years. The growth of the last fleece was 20 days less than one year, Mr. T. refers to Wm. Bush, Arthur Covert, Geo. Campbell and John Young for proof, if any disbelieve the statement.

Will some one posted on the subject, please tell us why a woman driver pays no attention to pedestrians, but drives ahead to the peril of men, women and children who may happen to be upon street crossings or in front of their vehicle? You rarely see a woman driver "slow up" a horse to let a person pass, while the man driver who does not do so is the exception, not the rule. If you never have noticed this fact, note it in the future.

Last Wednesday morning a son of J. D. Kief, of Manchester, named Addison D., was brought before Judge Harriman, who granted an order of commitment to the insane asylum at Pontiac. He is but 14 years old, and has formerly been employed in the store of W. H. Pottle, of Manchester, as a clerk. About two weeks since symptoms of insanity began to develop and he has been gradually growing worse since. The case seems to be a very sad one, but hopes are entertained of the disease being only temporary.

From the Dexter Leader.

NEARLY A FATAL MISTAKE.—Leander Easton, of Lima, had an attack of biliousness on last Tuesday. He was in Dexter with a load of wheat, and called at the drug store of Mr. John Croarkin for his favorite medicine, the extract of dandelion; went home, took a teaspoonful of it and then sat down and ate a hearty meal. Immediately after he was taken violently sick and vomited. Instead of calling for a physician he ordered his carriage and was driven to Dexter, to Mr. Croarkin's store. Drs. Lee and Chase were called in and examining the medicine discovered that Mr. Easton had taken the extract of Belladonna instead of dandelion. It seems the two bottles stood side by side on the same shelf, plainly labelled, but by a mistake, which any one is liable to make, Mr. Croarkin had given the Belladonna instead of the dandelion. The proper remedies were given by Drs. Lee and Chase of Dexter. and Dr. Dunster of Ann Arbor, who had been sent for, and at last accounts Mr. Easton was doing well. It was a narrow escape, but Mr. Easton's temperate habits and prompt action, as much as the skill of the physicians, helped him through. He was a great sufferer for awhile, but it is doubtful if his sufferings were near so hard to bear as those of Mr. Croarkin for his mistake. Both gentlemen have the hearty congratulations of all their friends for the happy termination of the unfortunate affair.

From the Register.

Deputy Marshal Chauncey Joslin, of Ypsilanti, was in the city Monday.

Five Ann Arbor bicylists visited Ypsilanti, Sunday. They returned by the south road, making the distance in just one hour.

From Every Saturday.

Dr. Longyear who recently returned from Europe is engaged to an Ypsilanti belle.

Owen Fawcett is at home. In two weeks he goes to Philadelphia where he will appear in a new play entitled, "Our Gentleman Friend."

An energetic Massachusetts temperance lecturer who on his visit to Concord was greeted by an audience typical of the place, related the success of his efforts on this wise: "Right down in the front row sat Ralph Waldo Emerson, Ebenezer Rockwood Hoar, Bronson Alcott and a lot of 'em, and the Lord nerved my arm an' I pasted 'em to the wall like flies." The celebrities seemed to have recovered from the shock, but we doubt whether the lecturer ever has.

The success that Don Cameron has had in wearing his fathers shoes, and the aid which the younger Cameron gives to the elder recalls the fact that Mr. Blaine has in the person of his second son a powerful ally. In the last Maine campaign, Emmons Blaine (or Mons. as he is known in Washington by his college friends) rendered valiant service. Armed with a little French which he picked up during a college vacation spent in a secluded town in France, he made his way to the remote settlements and converted the lumbermen of the pine woods to the Republican faith. These services together with others rendered while acting as secretary to his father during the Maine count, won for him hearty commendation from the New York press correspondents. Young Blaine possesses in a marked degree the very elements which go to make up his father's character. Shrewd, far seeing, persistent, he will be able in days to come to make as glorious a fight as his father has in days that are past. At all events an active political future seems assured to him.

FREEMAN.—On April 23, 1880., Mrs. Ruba A. Freeman, formerly of this city, aged 77 years.

Mrs. Freeman was born in Massachusetts, and in childhood emigrated to Caledonia Co., N. Y. In early womanhood she, with an aged mother, sister and brother, came to Michigan in 1824. They were seven days in getting to Ypsilanti from Detroit, and settled at what was called Woodruffs' grove. Soon after arriving she engaged to teach the district school; was hired by Mark Norris at whose house she made her home. After teaching two or three years she became the wife of Mr. David Freeman who, with his brother had established himself in the boot and shoe business in Ypsilanti.

After remaining here a few years they removed to their farm seven miles east. Her two brothers then purchased property in Grand Rapids which was then being settled, and she, with her infant son and husband, traveled the distance in a covered wagon stopping to rest in the wigwams of the Indians, there being no hotels at which they could rest and get refreshments. After remaining here a short time, they returned to their farm where she resided until the day of her death. In 1837 she lost her husband by death; soon her two sisters, mother and brother were removed by that family destroyer consumption. In 1843 she married the brother of her first husband, Lewis Freeman. He departed this life in 1867, leaving her again a widow. Those who administered to the wants of this dying man in his dying hours will never forget his words of comfort and peace. In a short time after this bereavement she was stricken with paralysis and remained a confirmed invalid to the day of her death. We hope, in the words of her favorite hymn, she has been gathered "At the river-with loved ones gone before."—COM.

BONNIE MAY.

The song birds sang their grandest tune
To usher in the day ;
The breeze comes sweet through orchard bloom
In the bright days of May.

O radiant days of pure delight,
It's ecstacy to live.
In vernal bloom, and golden light
How much even earth can give.

This seems the resurrection time,
The jubilee of the year ;
When bird, and breeze, and bloom combine
All grateful hearts to cheer.

The God of nature we adore,
Glad hearts rejoice and pray.
We dinna like to ask for more
Than comes in bonnie May.

Fruit trees shower blessings over me,
Sweet blossoms like the snow ;
When plowing down the flowery lea,
As Burns did long ago.

O what a wealth of beauty beams
O'er field and forest glade,
Prophetic of unfading scenes
Where life will never fade,

And when we gain the "better land"
In worlds sae far away,
We'll no forget the days sae grand
We spent in bonnie May.

RUINED BY A PERSONAL.

SAD HISTORY OF A NEW YORK BELLE.

There is something so well fitted to point a moral in the suicide (or possibly accidental death from opium poisoning) of Mrs. Harriet Van Buren, formerly Mrs. George F. Dutch, that brief reference to certain facts not yet published may be pardonable. Ten years ago Miss Harriet Van Buren was a familiar figure in one of the oldest and most exclusive circles in New York society. Young, beautiful, highly educated and accomplished, although her income at her fathers death was small—about $1,500 a year—she was the pet and ornament of an extremely exclusive circle. As is the case with most young ladies of her age she was as romantic and visionary as she was accomplished. Had there been some real work in life upon which to wreak the superabundant sentiment incident to young women of her age, the tragedy that ultimately ensued might have been avoided, and a long and useful life substituted for an erratic career and an early and tragic death. Idleness, one of the misfortunes of opulence and an assured income, is as sure to develop the latent capacity of a young girl for morbidezza as it is to develop a kindred state of mind in a young man born to affluence and laziness. In an evil hour this gay, accomplished and romantic girl, with noble possibilities before her, inserted a personal in a daily newspaper, soliciting the acquaintance of some accomplished gentleman. The mystery, the dash of romance, about acquaintances thus formed is one of the elements calculated upon by designing rascals, whose proverb is that heroism and desperation are so nearly allied that few know difference between them. The personal was answered by a man of middle age, blase, with many experiences in such affairs, who should have told this foolish girl that she was making shipwreck of her life, instead of pursuing the acquaintance and playing upon her romantic tendencies. This was in 1873. The clandestine acquaintance ripened into a passion ; the man was eccentric, fascinating, of good birth, of considerable fortune, and possibly as scrupulous in such matters as the average of his class. Friends objected in vain. All the idealism of a young girl, and all her hatred of humdrum were enlisted. She refused to hear anything to the discredit of her new acquaintance. In 1875 the pair took a trip to Florida in each other's society. There is no evidence of illicit relations ; but the escapade compromised the young lady irrevocably. It is to the honor of the man that he married her in Philadelphia on their return; to his dishonor, that he allowed her to compromise herself by romantic devotion to what she supposed to be her ideal. Three months later, having seen her idol shattered, her ideal broken, the poor girl applied for a divorce in Utah, with the connivance of the husband, who found such romantic devotion oppressive. The divorce was obtained ; and, her life and social position wrecked, she tried to redeem herself. How vain such a struggle is every person of experience well knows ! In her despair she drowned her regrets in opium; a few years of sad experience followed. Her equivocal position made her a prey to the rapacity of landladies and hotel proprietors. Debt, disgrace, disgust of life, sickness, and opium languor finish the picture. An attempt to break the habit was followed by a fatal dose, and the brilliant girl of 1876 became the subject of a coroner's inquest in 1880. The tale is not a new one; but it is, unfortunately, a true story of the peril of inserting a personal in a daily newspaper, and of the disaster that may follow the impracticable pursuit of a morbid ideal.

TOS HE WAS A BAPTIST.

A zealous Congregationalist, during a visit among Baptist friends in Pittsburg, accepted the invitation of the superintendent to be present at the Sunday-school, and take a class of little ones just sent up from the infant department. The lesson introduced John, the disciple of our Lord. As older heads have often confounded him with that John "who came preaching in the wilderness," the teacher felt anxious to bring out his personality clearly. So she asked :

"By what names do you know this John ?"

"Why was he called the beloved ?" continued she.

"Because Jesus loved him best."

"Why did he love him best ?" persisted our friend.

Imagine her discomfiture when a sweet voice lisped, "Tos he was a Baptist."

Strong in the goodness of his cause, with his back to the throne of God and his foot on the rock of truth, a man can stand against the world.

The truest help we can render to an afflicted man is, not to take his burden from him, but to call out his best strength, that he will be able to bear the burden.

NAMING HIS BOY JUDAS.

"My wife hez jes' presented me wid de fines' boy in dis country," said black Bill, entering a magistrate's office, taking off his hat and flinging off the perspiration from his brow with a crooked forefinger. "Yas, gen'elmen," he went on, "de fines chile I eber seed. An' I'se jes' got a twenty dollar gold piece right heah ter gin ter de man what can guess what I hez named him. Ter keep yer from spreadin' all ober de whole universe ob names, I'll state dat its a bible name."

"Abraham," guessed some one.

"Paul."

"No, sah."

"Job."

"Guess agin."

"Nicodemus."

"Keep 'er comin'."

"Abimelech."

"Try me agin."

The guessing ceased after a time, and finally Bill remarked:

"I'se named dat boy Judas Escarut."

"What!" said the magistrate, "Judas betrayed our savior."

"Can't help it, dat's de boy's name. Judas has been slighted. Nobody hez eber had de immoral courage ter name a chile fur dat man. But dat ain't de mam reason why I names him Judas. I'se got de bible to 'stain me in gibbin' de chile dat name."

"How does the bible sustain you in desiring to perpetuate that name ?" asked the magistrate.

"Its dis fack. Chris' in remarkin' ob Judas said dat it would have bin better fur dat man if he hadn't been born."

"Well ?"

"An' considerin' how many mout's is opened at de doo' when I goes home wid a side ob meat, it would have bin better fur dat boy ob mine of he had neber seed de daylight. I knows what I'se talkin' about I takes de scriptur frum de references. In de futur ef I finds dat de boy hez made an improvement on hisself, den I'll change his name ter Jim."—Little Rock Gazette.

HOW A TOAD UNDRESSES.

A gentleman sends to an agricultural paper an amusing description of "How a toad takes off his coat and pants." He says he has seen one do it, and one of his friends has seen another do it in the same way:

About the middle of July I found a toad on a hill of melons, and not wishing him to leave I hoed around him. He appeared sluggish and not inclined to move. Presently I observed him pressing his elbows against his sides and rubbing downward. He appeared so singular that I watched to see what he was up to. After a few smart rubs his skin began to burst open straight along his back. "Now," said I "old fellow, you have done it;" but he appeared to be unconcerned, and kept on rubbing until he had worked all his skin into folds on his sides and hips; then grasping one hind leg with both his hands, he hauled off one leg of his pants the same as anybody would, then stripped the other hind leg in the same way. He then took his cast off cuticle forward between his fore legs into his mouth and swallowed it; then, by raising and lowering his head, swallowing as his head came down, he stripped off the skin underneath until it came to his forelegs, and then grasping one of these by the opposite hand, by considerable pulling, stripped off the skin; changing hands, he stripped off the other, and by a slight motion of the head, and all the time swallowing, he drew it from the neck and swallowed the whole. The occupation seemed to be an agreeable one and occupied but a short time.

It has been pointed out as an unpleasant contradiction, that while the workingmen have of late been in convention, in several instances, to complain of their oppressions, the amount of beer consumed by the delegates has been enormous. Grim old Thomas Carlyle speaks thus on this point: "No man oppresses thee, O free and independent franchiser! but does not this stupid pewter pot oppress thee? No son of Adam can bid thee come or go, but this absurd pot of heavy-wet can and does! Thou art the thrall not of Cedric the Saxon, but of thy own brutal appetites, and this accursed dish of liquor. And thou pratest of thy 'liberty,' thou entire blockhead!"

A young man in a Western city went to spark his girl one cold night. He rode his father's horse to the residence of the girl, and left the horse standing out doors without any blanket. A knock was heard at the door about eleven o'clock, and the young lady hastened to admit the caller, who proved to be no less a personage than the comfortable young man's father. "John" said he, "go home quicker'n lightning. A young idiot that don't know better than to leave old Bill out such a night as this, haint got brains enough to spark a girl."

TAKING A DISLIKE.—An ill-natured fellow quarreled with his sweetheart on the day they were to be married. After the ceremony had begun he was asked:

"Do you take this woman to be your wedded wife," etc.

He replied "No."

"What's your reason ?" inquired the minister.

"I've taken a dislike to her and that's enough," was the surly reply.

The parties retired—the bride in tears—and after much persuasion, the groom was induced to have the marriage proceed. It was now the lady's turn, and when the minister asked the all important question:

"No," said she, resolutely, "I've taken a dislike to him."

The groom, admiring her spunk, made the matter up with her as soon as possible, and a third time they presented themselves to the minister, who begun the ceremony by asking the usual questions, which were satisfactorily answered this time. But to the astonishment of the party, his reverence continued :

"Well. I'm glad you are willing to take each other for husband and wife, for its a good thing to be of forgiving tempers. You can now go and get married where you will. I'll not tie the knot, for I've taken a dislike to both of you!"

REV. THOMAS BEECHER AND FARMING.

I know a man whose knife is always sharp, whose eye is always watchful. A man who, if he be going a third of a mile to his meadow, sees everything between his house and the meadow. He touches now a plum tree, and now a little peach tree; is picking up and examining a stone now and then; is regulating a fence that has begun to show decay. He is an active presence for good. His brain never ceases to guide his hands wisely. And his farm is so heavenly in its mingled industry and beauty that, in my household, we have a phrase when wearied with the ways of men, "Oh, I wish I could die and go to Boyd's!"

Geology is not learned out of books. There are stones on your farms. There is where geology begins. Botany is not learned out of books. There is "Flora," at least a thousand varieties, on your farms. Chemistry is not learned out of books. There are chemical mysteries staring up in your faces on every square yard of your farms. They only need patient looking at to yield a lesson.

The farmer should be and may become master of nearly all trades. It is, indeed, a grievous thing to see, as I saw, an old man in harvest, when every hour was worth a day of ordinary time, come four miles to get me to whittle out and make a rake head. Now by this one illustration, learn the whole story: A complete rake can be bought at a store for twenty-five cents. I insist that if you will buy five or six dollars worth of tools, and sit down with your boy, jack-knife in hand, in some prepared shop, and go to making a rake—teeth, head, hoops, and stale—and so that rake costs you three and a half or four dollars. Commerce says you are a fool to pay three or four dollars for twenty-five cents worth. Wisdom says you are wise. Your boy has learned something; he is a bigger boy. He knows now how to use tools. You've got two shillings in your rake, twenty shillings in your boy!

Brothers, that is a cheerless farm home, in which the care of the milk enslaves the women, and the clank of the churn is the morning call to labor, and a hundred firkins of butter is the yield of the farm; and the farmer brings back a story of net profits, one thousand dollars to a wife and family who do not and cannot use wisely in the culture of manhood and womanhood more than two hundred and fifty dollars.

That prohibition does prohibit, even in Maine, begins to dawn upon the minds of the general public. Thus, the New York Herald admits (April 3d) in an elaborate editorial, that, in Maine, the prohibition law has demonstrated its value.

Miss Tallman of New York has erected a $130,000 Episcopal church, the sittings of which are free.

Our readers are familiar with "What the temperance cause has done for John and me;" and now here is a colored view of the subject:

Corn ie de crib, and money in de pocket,
Baby in de cradle, and a pretty wife to rock it,
Coffee in de closet, an' sugar in de barrel,
Joy around the fireside, bn' folks that never quarrel.

When Talmage says he does not attempt a profound lecture, because, first, the people don't know what he is talking about, and, secondly, he doesn't know anything more about it than his audience, he panders to the popular and mistaken notion that profundity is opposed to clearness and simplicity. The best teachers illustrate the fact that to be profound and to be understood are not necessarily two different things.

No one should make sport of love. The chap who can't love for all he's worth when young is the man whom grocers compel to pay cash down when he is old and bald-headed.

RELIEF AND CURE OF

Rupture

Dr. J. A. SHERMAN, Specialist in the treatment of Hernia, or Rupture for the past forty years, and the inventor and discoverer of the only known successful method for its immediate relief and effectual cure, without the dreadful injuries resulting from continued truss pressure, is and may be daily consulted, Room 5, Michigan Exchange Hotel, for a limited period. His treatment is based upon scientific principles and consists of the anatomical adaptation of his appliance, which is far more efficatious than the truss, and the use of his Curative Compound on external application. During treatment patients can perform any kind of labor with safety from the dangers of strangulation and without interfering with the cure. Persons from abroad may receive treatment and leave for home the same day. No man is safe who has a rupture, no matter how insignificant he may consider it, for every man who has died from it once flattered himself that but a trifling ailment: and to everyman who now suffers from it and the injury of trusses, to such an extent that life has no enjoyment, once regarded it as unworty his attention It is not a stand-still affliction ; it is steadily progressive, ever once death. He is wise who takes the necessary steps to be relieved of it before the day of suffering and gloom comes upon him, Dr. Sherman's book on Rupture gives the most reliable proofs from distinguished professional gentlemen, clergymen and merchants of his successful practice and popularity therefrom throughout this country and the West Indies for the past 35 years or more. The afflicted should read it and inform themselves. It is illustrated with photographic likeness of extremely bad cases before and after cure, and mailed to those who send 10 cents. KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE.

The most Successful Remedy ever discovered, as it is certain in its effects and does not blister.

FROM

REV. P. N. GRANGER,

Presiding Elder of the St. Alban's District.

St. Albans, Vt., Jan. 20th, 1880.

DR. J. B. KENDALL & Co., Gents: My experience with Kendall's Spavin Cure has been very satisfactory indeed. Three or four years ago I procured a bottle of your agent, and with it cured a horse of lameness caused by a spavin. Last season my horse became very lame and I turned him out for a few weeks, when he became better but when I put him on the road he grew worse, when I discovered that a ring bone was forming. I procured a bottle of Kendall's Spavin Cure, and with less than a bottle cured him so that he is not lame, neither can the bunch be found,

Resdectfully yours, P. N. GRANGER.

Kalamazoo, Apiil 15th, 1879.

I received the two bottles of your spavin cure forwarded by express in January last. I am happy to state that it performed all your advertisement called for. In three weeks after I commenced using it the spavin was entirely removed and a valuable horse restored to usefulness.

Verry truly yours, JOHN PARKER.

KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE

Is sure in its effects, mild in its action as it does not blister, and yet it is penetrating, and powerful to reach any deep seated pain, or to remove any bony growth or any other enlargement if used for several days, such as spavins, splints, curbs, cullous, sprains, swellings, any lameness and all and all enlargements of the joints or limbs, or rheumatism in man and for any purpose for which a linament is used on man or beast. It is known to be the best linament for man ever used, acting mild and yet certain in its effects.

Send address for illustrated circular. No remedy has ever met with such unqualified success, to our knowledge, for beast as well as man.

Cathartic Pills

Combine the choicest cathartic principles in medicine, in proportions accurately adjusted to secure activity, certainty, and uniformity of effect. They are the result of years of careful study and practical experiment, and are the most effectual remedy yet discovered for diseases, caused by derangement of the stomach, liver, and bowels, which require prompt and effectual treatment. AYER'S PILLS are specially applicable to this class of diseases. They act directly on the digestive and assimilative processes, and restore regular healthy action. Their extensive use by physicians in their practice, and by all civilized nations, is one of the many proofs of their value as a safe, sure, and perfectly reliable purgative medicine. Being compounded of the concentrated virtues of purely vegetable substances, they are positively free from calomel, or any injurious properties, and can be administered to children with perfect safety.

AYER'S PILLS are an effectual cure for Constipation or Costiveness, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Loss of Appetite, Foul Stomach and Breath, Dizziness, Headache, Loss of Memory, Numbness, Biliousness, Jaundice, Rheumatism, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, Dropsy, Tumors, Worms, Neuralgia, Colic, Gripes, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Gout, Piles, Disorders of the Liver, and all other diseases resulting from a disordered state of the digestive apparatus.

As a Dinner Pill they have no equal.

While gentle in their action, these PILLS are the most thorough and searching cathartic that can be employed, and never give pain unless the bowels are inflamed, and then their influence is healing. They stimulate the appetite and digestive organs; they operate to purify and enrich the blood, and impart renewed health and vigor to the whole system.

In every case of fever and ague, it is always a thorough remedy, while for disorders of the stomach, torpidity of the liver, indigestion and disturbances of the animal forces, which debilitate, it has no equivalent and can have no substitute. It should not be confounded with the triturated compounds of cheap spirits and essential oils, often sold under the name of Bitters.
